JSfirm.com Partners with SpaceTEC to Enhance Careers in Aerospace Workforce Development

Roanoke, Texas (September 26, 2024) - JSfirm.com is excited to announce a strategic partnership with SpaceTEC, a leading non-profit organization dedicated to credentialing and education in the aerospace industry. This collaboration will integrate SpaceTEC's certification programs with JSfirm.com's extensive Job Distribution Network, creating streamlined pathways from training to employment for aspiring technicians.

SpaceTEC serves as a National Resource Center for Aerospace Technical Education, providing industry-driven credentials that validate the technical knowledge and skills of technicians in core competencies demanded by today's aerospace employers. SpaceTEC's programs are designed to prepare individuals for successful careers in aerospace and defense.

JSfirm.com is aviation's leading online job board, connecting employers with qualified candidates in all fields. Through this partnership, SpaceTEC graduates will gain direct access to JSfirm.com's extensive job listings on the SpaceTEC website, enhancing their visibility to employers and providing them with a competitive edge in the job market.

Laurie Elliott, Partnership Manager for JSfirm.com, commented, "The partnership between JSfirm.com and SpaceTEC creates a seamless stream of qualified professionals entering the aerospace industry. From exposure to training, then from credentialing to the career, this type of partnership is helping to build the aerospace workforce of the future."

"SpaceTEC serves as a clearinghouse of information, resources, and performative credentials that develop and prove the technical capabilities needed in today's technology-driven high-performance workplaces," says Steve Kane, SpaceTEC's Executive Director. "We're thrilled at this opportunity to partner with JSfirm.com and offer our certified technicians nationwide search capabilities for any openings in their area of expertise that they may be interested in."

Any aviation schools, programs, or associations interested in becoming a JSfirm.com Job Distribution Partner can contact Laurie Elliott directly at laurie@jsfirm.com.
